

There is nothing more substantial in this country than the fidelity of Iowa to the principles of the republican party.

Postmaster General Gresham is reported to be in favor of making another reform in the postal service. He will recommend to congress in his annual report that local postage in cities where carriers are employed, should be one cent only.

The report from Washington is that the White House will be very gay this winter. There are to be four state dinners, one to the judges of the supreme court, another to the diplomatic corps and two to senators, and, perhaps, one to General Sheridan on his taking command of the army.

The proposed amendment to the constitution of Ohio, reads as follows:

Section 2. "The additional section in and with article 18 of the constitution shall be repealed, and there shall be substituted for it the following: 'The manufacture of and the traffic in intoxicating liquors, to be used as a beverage, are forever prohibited, and the general assembly shall provide by law for the enforcement of this provision.'"

The returns show that this has been defeated by a majority ranging from 30,000 to 40,000.

We find a statement in the Chicago Journal from a gentleman who has spent several months in Georgia and Mississippi, that there are eighty-seven counties in Georgia where a man cannot buy, beg or steal a drink of whisky, and none can be purchased in the state except in some of the larger towns. People are thoroughly aroused on the subject, and in Mississippi they have gone to such an extreme that they tax billiard tables $1,000 apiece, under the opinion that they are a device for the encouragement of drinking. There are only a few foreign born citizens in the state, and the native American voters enact laws satisfactory to themselves.

Mr. Henry N. Copp, a lawyer of Washington, has issued a United States salary and civil service rules which will prove a very valuable book to the reading public. All the government salaries are given from President Arthur's $50,000 to postmaster with $500, officials of the treasury interior, war and navy departments, custom houses, post offices, and fully 20,000 federal officers arranged by states and territories. Specimen examination questions for admittance to the civil service throughout the country are added. The price of the book is only 35 cents. Politicians alone have heretofore held this knowledge. The people now have a chance to learn into whose pockets their money goes, and how the nation's income is expended.

A very prominent minister in Brooklyn who has filled a pulpit for nearly forty years, is anxious that there shall be a reform in regard to ministers attending the funerals of persons who, in their lifetime, never attended church, but rather succeeded at both ministers and churches while they were living and in good health. He is of the opinion that the family of such deceased persons should be compelled to pay for the services of a clergyman. Service at funerals stands in such a different basis from that at marriages that clergymen are expected to be always at command, and they perform this exacting labor with great unselfishness, and for its own sake, as it is entirely without reward. Yet there has so often seemed to be an element of social imposition in the demands made upon them that some clergymen have considered the advisability of causing it to be understood that in cases not arising in their own congregations, or where there was no natural claim upon them, they would expect those who could afford it to compensate them for their time.

The readjustment of the salaries of postmasters of the presidential class, has been announced, and the following are the salaries connected with twenty-five of the seventy-five offices of that class in Wisconsin:

Ashland	$1,400	$1,500
Augusta	1,200	1,300
Baraboo	1,200	1,300
Black River Falls	1,500	1,600
Chippewa Falls	2,500	2,600
Cambridge	1,400	1,500
Kenilworth	1,400	1,500
Pond du Lac	1,200	1,300
Hudson	1,200	1,300
Janesville	2,000	2,100
La Crosse	2,500	2,600
Madison	2,500	2,600
Monroe	1,200	1,300
Neillsville	1,200	1,300
North La Crosse	1,200	1,300
Oshkosh	1,200	1,300
Reedsburg	1,200	1,300
River Falls	1,500	1,600
Spartan	1,200	1,300
Stevens Point	1,200	1,300
Superior	1,200	1,300
Wausau	1,200	1,300

The first column of figures gives the salaries paid at the first of the year, and the second, those paid under the adjustment of October 1.

One of the best writers in New York on trade and the financial question, has prepared a very careful review of the condition of the business and money markets, and says that "the past ten days have shown constantly weak markets for wheat, corn, pork products, and petroleum, and only moderate strength in cotton. The news from the crops is generally favorable, except as to cotton, and the extent of the injury to that crop is not yet definitely ascertained. The receipts of grain at western points, with the disappointing scantiness of the demand from abroad, have thus far defeated all efforts to bring about a substantial upward movement in prices, though there are many who still labor and hope for such a change. The past seven days have not witnessed very violent fluctuations, and it may perhaps be most correctly described as a week of sluggish and waiting markets. The bank exchanges throughout the country were not very large, still falling about $300,000,000, or over 33 per cent behind those of the corresponding week last year. The quarterly report of failures, though decidedly the reverse of cheering, caused no surprise, because the recollection of numerous and heavy failures in New York city and in New England was fresh, and had prepared everybody for an unfavorable report. It is still the prevalent feeling that business is generally sound, and will be the safer and more healthy for the weeding out to which several branches have been subjected.

THE RETURNS.

Republicans Concede the Triumph of the Democratic State Ticket in Ohio.

Judge Hoadly Chosen Governor by About 12,000 Majority—A Cry of Fraud Raised.

Governor Sherman's Majority in Iowa Over Judge Kinn Place at 26,000.

The Legislature Republican on Joint Ballot—The Sixth Congressional District in Doubt.

Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11.—With returns from eighty counties and the other eight estimated, it is conceded at Republican headquarters that the Democratic majority will be over 12,000. The Democrats do not claim the State by more than that. The best information is that the legislative tickets at Cleveland and at Cincinnati are divided. On the proportion mutually claimed the Senate stands 21 Democrats and 11 Republicans. The House, 61 Democrats and 44 Republicans, giving the Democrats a majority on joint ballot for Senator of 26. The amendment got 50,000 votes, and its advocates still claim its adoption. The Greenbackers east about 1,000 votes. The State ticket, and even the Legislature, were lost sight of in the election, and all interest centered on the prohibition amendment, for which the temperance Republicans in the rural districts fairly traded their whole State and county tickets. On the other hand in the city the liquor element Germans and others swapped the Democratic ticket for votes against the amendment. In the general campaign and democratization the Republicans got the worst of the bargain. This trading is what accounts for the Republican gains in Cincinnati, Cleveland and other cities. The Republicans also lost some in the country on account of the reduction of the tariff on wool. On the Western Reserve many Republicans did not receive more than one vote in a dozen in this county. Some of the prohibitionists are claiming that the amendment has carried, but they have no figures upon which to base their claim. The License Amendment received only a small vote.

Iowa.

DES MOINES, Oct. 11.—The Republican State Committee have complete and full returns from thirty counties and definite returns from twenty-seven, and partial returns from the other forty-two counties. These show that Sherman and the Republican State ticket will have a majority over Kinn and the Democratic ticket of 26,000 to 28,000 and a majority of 15,000 to 14,000 over all. The Democrats claim the election of Hayes over Reed for Supreme Judge, but the claim is unsupported by the figures. Reed, however, runs from 2,000 to 3,000 votes behind the Republican State ticket. On the legislative claims are still apart. Mr. Donnan, who seems to be elected Senator from his district, claims from fifty-five to sixty members in the House and eighteen in the Senate. He also claims that enough in the House are pledged to prohibition to assure the legislation demanded in this campaign. The Democratic Committee claim fifty-five members in the House and ten Senators, which constitutes a majority on joint ballot to the Republicans. Heinzelman, who was reported defeated, is elected, but Larabee, who has been Senator for a dozen years, is easily defeated by Butler, who moved into the district about two years ago and who stumped for the amendment last year. Republicans predict easily concede the defeat of Stier, in the Sixth District, which, to all intents and purposes, is the substantial Democratic victory of this campaign.

Another Maiden Stain.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 11.—The dead body of what had been a lovely girl, apparently sixteen years of age, was found in Sheridan's drive, north of Fort Leavenworth. The head was found, with the mouth and eyes wide open, about four feet from the trunk. The body was nude, and considerably decomposed. The hands were tied together with a strip from a calico dress. There was a bullet-hole in the left thigh. The body was brought to this city and an inquest held, but the unfortunate girl was not identified, nor was any clue found to who was her friend and mysterious murderer. The head bore a heavy mass of bright golden hair.

A HAND-CAR HORROR.

A Little Child Instantly Killed and Three Persons Fatally Injured by an Accident near Waukau, Wis.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Oct. 11.—Particulars are just received of a horrible accident at Waukau. Mr. Tronget, section-boss on the St. Paul, his wife and baby, accompanied by his daughter and her husband and child, who live near Lake Koshong, were riding on a hand-car. Mrs. Tronget's little boy fell off, and in reaching for it her baby slipped out of her hands in front of the car. The little one was caught up by gear wheels, and in an instant was crushed among the gears and wound about the shafts of the machinery, being torn from her mother's arms, and its body examined in the morning in the morgue. The car was thrown from the track and, those upon it were hurled some distance. Both women were probably fatally hurt, and are now in a precarious condition, while the other child was also fatally injured. The remains of Tronget's child were piled from between the wheels and gear of the car, and its body was so tightly wedged in places that it had to be cut loose. The pieces of the body were placed in an old shoe-box at Waukau.

San Francisco Quaking.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—The earthquake Tuesday night was the heaviest experienced here since the great one of 1868. Buildings groaned, metal roofing cracked, and many persons rushed half dressed from their houses and the hotels. The recollection of its being within one day of the anniversary of the earthquake of 1868 seemed to increase their fears, and many people walked the streets all night in preference to returning indoors. Earthquakes are reported to have occurred during the night and morning in several places along the coast.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

Important Arrest of Counterfeiters at Duluth—Their Mode of Operations.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Captain Hall, of the United States Secret Service, recently placed under arrest at Duluth, Minn., three counterfeiters named McGovern, Walters and Chambers. Not long since it was reported that a ten-dollar silver certificate which had been passed at Brainerd, Minn., was discovered to be but a successful imitation of the genuine certificate. Captain Hall at once went to that place, and traced the bill to one James McGovern, who kept a grocery store at Duluth. Three or four similar bills were heard of at Grand Forks, D. T., where they had been passed by Charles Chambers, a saloon-keeper, who soon after went to Duluth and joined McGovern in the grocery business. About this time a hand-printing press was sent from St. Paul to a man named Walters, who had also lived at Grand Forks. Captain Hall at once arrested all three and made a search of the grocery store. At first it was fruitless, but finally the press was found in the bottom of a barrel covered with green coffee. In a waste-paper box was a numbering machine, and the chase was hidden the angle of a beam and the ceiling. Under the floor were a number of pieces of torn counterfeit bills, and under a window between the wainscoting and the wall were a full set of plates for printing ten-dollar certificates, also copper plates of five-dollar and ten-dollar bills of the Bank of Montreal. The notes had been printed on common bank-note paper, and the red fiber seen in the paper used by the Government was ruled in with colored ink. All their work was well done. The prisoners are all Canadian, and their intention was to take a lot of the false money into the lumber camps this fall and pass it on the wood-choppers and lumbermen. None of the counterfeiters could get back into civilization where they could be detected until spring, and then the counterfeiters hoped to be far away from arrest. McGovern, who was the head of the party, is well connected in Montreal, his brother having been Mayor of the city and a member of the Canadian Parliament.

Governor Butler's Prophecy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—General Butler said to a friend that he was quite certain there would be not less than three strong Presidential tickets in the field next year. "There is," said he, "every indication that a strong third party movement is organizing, and politicians, in making up their states, must not leave this out of their calculations. Two million workingmen will demand a vote in the Government. In my opinion they will nominate a candidate for the Presidency next year, and I am satisfied the man they select will be one on whom the best elements of both parties can unite."

The Noted Seawanhaka Suits Ended.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—On motion of United States District Attorney Root, the celebrated Seawanhaka cases against the directors of the steamer Edgar Weeks, the engineer, and Austin Jayne and John K. Matthews, the United States inspectors of Steamboats, have been dismissed. The Seawanhaka was burned in the summer of 1880, and the indictments in these cases were found the following August.

A post-mortem examination of the remains of the late George Sherman has held this forenoon by Dr. O. P. Robinson, his attending physician, who invited Drs. S. S. and W. H. Judd, Dr. Q. O. Sutherland and Dr. W. H. Judd to accompany him. Dr. W. H. Judd performed the autopsy assisted by Dr. D. Robinson. The physicians found a scirrhus tumor in the pyloric orific, the tumor including about four inches of the intestines, making a complete inclosure, which was, of course, the cause of death.

Fast and Loose.

Decay loosens the teeth. Soregont removes the cause of their destruction, and they retain their place in the dental process. After a few applications, it will be noticed that the natural indentations in the teeth, formerly filled with corroding tartar, present a spotless appearance and their enamelled surfaces glisten with becoming lustre. Thus beauty is heightened and health promoted.

TWO WILD FREIGHTS!

Come Together in the Hanover Marsh, One Mile South of the Junction.

Three Locomotives and Twelve Freight Cars Demolished.

A Fireman By the Name of Mott Buried in the Wreck.

A terrible collision occurred on the Madison division of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, one mile south of Hanover Junction at 6:30 o'clock this morning, in which a fireman named Mott, supposed to reside in Madison, was killed, and twelve freight cars laden with a miscellaneous lot of freight, and three locomotives, were demolished. A representative of the Gazette visited the scene of the collision this forenoon, and learned the following facts:

Both freight trains were known as wild trains, the south bound train was in charge of Conductor D. M. Donahoe, the engineer being Mr. Newton Bennett, of Baraboo. This train reached Footville, when the conductor went to the office for orders, and for some reason which we could not ascertain, the engineer pulled out of the station, leaving the conductor. The absence of Conductor Donahoe, on arriving at Hanover and Hanover Junction is also unexplained by the trainmen, in fact, those at the wreck this morning did not seem inclined to answer questions pertaining to the minute details. But nevertheless, the south bound train kept going right along without the conductor. There was a very heavy fog hanging over the Hanover marsh at the time, but it is said that the engine of the south bound train had a bright headlight. The north bound train, which was also a wild one, was in charge of Conductor C. Cooke, residing, we believe, in Madison, his engineer being a Mr. Taylor, of Baraboo. This train, as we learn, was speeding along as usual, but had no headlight burning. On reaching the marsh, one mile south of Hanover Junction, Engineer Taylor discovered the headlight of the south-bound train ahead of him.

He reversed his engine and signalled "down brakes," and all hands, seeing the danger, jumped from the train. The engineer of the other train must have noticed the approach of the north bound train at the same moment, as he also gave the signal of danger. Mr. Bennett, the engineer, was breaking in a new fireman, named Mott, this being his third trip over the road, and beside these two a brakeman was on the engine (489) at the time. Mr. Bennett told the fireman and brakeman to jump, refusing to obey, he threw them both from the cab, and then jumped himself just in time to save his life. All this was accomplished in a moment. The young man Mott has not been seen since he left the engine, and is reported to be buried in the wreck.

When the Gazette representative arrived at the wreck, he found the wreckers at work, under charge of Mr. Charles Koyes, of Baraboo. Both trains were large ones, and heavily laden with freight, the north bound train having in tow three new locomotives from the Manchester locomotive works, bound for the O. R. & N. Co. of Oregon. One of these engines was demolished in the wreck, which must have been of great force, as the engines of the respective trains and twelve freight cars were about totally demolished.

The wreck presented a wonderful sight and is almost a miracle that the result is not more serious. The two heavy freight engines remain upright on the track, that is the driving wheels and boilers. The pilots of both were smashed, and the two monsters struck heads, the boiler of the south bound engine seems to have entered the head of the other boiler a distance of two feet, stripping everything off, the cylinders and parallel rods are broken, in fact the engines were demolished. Our reporter could not find anything which resembled a cab or tender to the north bound engine, while the leader of the south bound engine was broken in the center, the sides driven together and laid in the water some twenty feet from the track. In the rear of the north bound engine was a pile of some fifteen or twenty pairs of trucks, piled up in front of the "dead" engine, while the freight cars were thrown in every conceivable manner, and broken in pieces.

One of these cars was knocked off its trucks and stood almost on end on top of the colliding engines. There is considerable water at the place, and one of the cars, not much broken, is right side up in the center of the ditch, some twenty feet from the track.

Of course some one is to blame for this accident, but just where the blame should fall will probably not be ascertained until the body of young Mott is recovered, and the result of the coroner's request is made known.

Although a large force is at work clearing the wreck, the track will hardly be ready for the passage of trains before we understand that trains on the Madison division will pass through this city, by way of Afion on the south, and Jefferson Junction on the north.

One of the cars going south was loaded with wheat, all of which was dumped in the ditch; another loaded with ground feed, was piled on top of it, which, with the large amount of coal from the locomotive tenders, and the other articles of freight, makes rather a bad looking wreck, scattered in the mud and water.

The station agent of Evansville was on the spot with a telegraph instrument, and had established communication with headquarters.

The crash of the two trains coming together was plainly heard by the people in Hanover, and by many farmers at a greater distance. A number of people from this city went down to the wreck during the day.

The body of young Mott had not been recovered at noon, and will not be, perhaps, until most of the wreck is cleared away. His body must of necessity be terribly mangled.

The damage resulting from this collision will not be far from $75,000.

MATRIMONIAL.

HAMILTON—LODGE.

The marriage of Mr. Maynard W. Hamilton to Miss Maggie E. Lord, was solemnized at 12:30 to-day at the residence of the bride's mother—Mrs. John F. Drake—in the fourth ward, the service being performed by the Rev. C. E. Goldthorpe, of the First Methodist church. The wedding was attended by about fifty persons, including none but the relatives and the immediate friends of the contracting parties. Among those from abroad were Mr. Hamilton's relatives from Monmouth, Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Hamann, of Oshkosh, Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth, of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Perkins, of Grand Rapids, Michigan. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Drake was very elaborately and beautifully decorated for the interesting occasion.

As the bride and groom entered the parlor, Mrs. J. W. Bittell played the well-known wedding march, and while the happy couple stood under a handsome arch of evergreens, the service was performed. The bride was richly attired in cream satin with orange blossoms, and the groom wore conventional black. The presents were large in number and many of them rich in quality, and among them was an elegant diamond ring from the groom to the bride. After the wedding service and congratulations, the company sat down to a sumptuous dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton started on the 2:25 train for Chicago. During their absence of about two weeks, they will visit Galena, Monmouth, and Milwaukee.

Mr. Hamilton is the manager of the Western Union telegraph office in this city, and during his short residence in Janesville has won the confidence and esteem of a host of our citizens by his thorough integrity and gentlemanly deportment. The bride is well known in the society circles of our city. She is handsome and accomplished, and has a host of warm friends who will wish her a long life of happiness.

DEAN—TINMAN.

Mr. F. L. Dean, of the town of Center, was married last evening to Miss Alice Inman, the ceremony taking place at the home of the parents of the bride, on Harmony street, in the second ward. The Rev. Elder Sanborn, of Richmond, performed the ceremony. There were numerous presents given the happy couple by the seventy-five relatives and friends whose presence graced the occasion. No groomsmen and bridesmaids were present. There are a large number of friends both in the city and in the country who wish Mr. and Mrs. Dean many years of prosperity and happiness.

THE GRAND SPECTACLE.

The stage settings of Shook & Collier's "Lights of London" will surpass anything ever attempted in Janesville. The piece itself is a powerful and popular melodrama, and this, together with the unsurpassed beauty of the scenery, will make the entertainment one of the richest ever seen in this city. One paper describes it thus: "When the curtain rose, showing Armatage hall and lodge with a view of the park, the audience expressed its delight by applause. The triumph of the evening was the bridge at Regent's Park by moonlight. This was the prettiest stage setting ever seen outside of New York. Everything was perfect, even to the two faring gas lamps on the bridge and the lights scattered through the park. The fight on the bridge between Clifford Armatage and Preen was realistic, and when Preen fell into the river the water splashed up, making the scene true to the life. When Harold jumped from the bridge into the river to save a life the splash sent the water all over the stage, the effect being greeted by the audience with applause."

Snow on the Plains.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 11.—A sudden fall of temperature, followed by snow, surprised the ranchmen on the plains Wednesday. About six inches of snow had fallen at eleven o'clock that night at Denver, and it was still snowing hard, with no wind blowing. Four inches of snow lies on the ground at Sidney. Between one and two inches of snow fell at Cheyenne.

A Slippery Rascal.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—For some time past Chicago jewelers have suffered from the operations of an expert diamond-thief, whose operations are said to have netted him $50,000. Though the methods are the same, thus far all efforts by the city detectives to capture the fellow have been futile.

Charges of Bribery.

DETROIT, Oct. 11.—Jerre Sheahan, a Democrat, was on Tuesday elected County Auditor to succeed George R. Fillard, a Republican. The latter charges that Sheahan offered $150 to Supervisor Merrill, $200 to Supervisor Ewing, and $250 to a Detroit Alderman, to secure an election.

Scared to Death by a Buzz Saw.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 11.—Adam Allen, who worked in Preville, Spurr & Co.'s saw-mill, was thrown near the buzz saw by the log-carriage and frightened to death. He did not receive a scratch or laceration of any kind. The coroner's verdict was "scared to death."

"Men a sun in corpore sano." "A sound mind in a sound body" is the trade mark of Allen's Brain Food, and we assure our readers that, if disatisfied with either weakness of brain or bodily powers, this remedy will permanently strengthen both. At all druggists, or by mail from J. H. Allen, 315 First Ave. New York City.

The Conductors' Convention.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—The sixteenth annual convention of the Railroad Conductors' and Insurance Association of the United States and Canada is in session. President George L. Davis and 115 delegates are present. Twenty-one members have died, five have been accidentally killed, and two have been disabled during the past year.

May and December.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Country house society is flattered by the news that the venerable Earl of Mount Cashell, aged ninety-two, and known as the "Father of the House of Lords," is about to marry a young lady (anonymous), daughter of Col. Joseph Kennedy, late of the Tenthenth Hussars.

Determined to Die.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Henry Haas, aged fifty-seven, who shot himself severely on Saturday, hanged himself yesterday in the infirmary at Holstein, Germany, an ex-convict.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

On the Chickahominy.

Under date of May 31, 1863, Colonel B. F. Tibbitts, of Dover, N. H., sends us the following: "While on duty in the army of the Potomac in the swamps of the Chickahominy I conceived a complication of diseases, the result of a spinal trouble, paralysis of one side, and severe distresses of the kidneys and bladder, and great mental weakness. For a long time I was under the treatment of the best physicians, but received no permanent benefit. When I was in the drug business in Boston I heard favorable accounts of the efficacy of Hunt's Remedy for diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs and having decided to give it a trial, I purchased some at Wingate's drug store, Dover, N. H., and have received great relief from using it. The severe pains in my back were removed, and I am able to perform my duties, and obtain rest at night, which for a long time could not do, and the weakness in the urinary organs has been relieved, and I greatly regret that I did not test the great merits of Hunt's Remedy when I was first taken sick, as I am confident it would have saved me from several years of suffering; and I am more strongly convinced of its effect after hearing of the most remarkable cures effected by Hunt's Remedy in a case of Bright's disease, in one of our soldiers in Dover, after the patient had been pronounced incurable by celebrated physicians."

Mr. Tibbitts is a retired druggist, formerly located in Boston, and is a thoroughly reliable citizen.—Cot. Ed.

C. S. Postal Service.

H. S. Whitney, assistant postmaster, Putnam, Conn., writes May 1, 1888: "I have used Hunt's Remedy with the best results. I have suffered until agony for eighteen months with kidney and liver complaint; my water was very bad, at times I actually passed blood. This was followed by general prostration. My business requiring me to be on my feet most of the time I was unable to do so. I was advised to use Hunt's Remedy by a friend who had been cured by it, and can truly say that it has benefited me more than all the other medicines I have used. I consider it the best medicine for kidney and liver troubles, and carefully recommend it to all."
